Elks Will Entertain Regional Newsmen

negional newspapermen will be guests of the Scranton Lodge of Elks this evening at the 12th annual National Newspaper Week dinner in the Elks Club. All Elks and friends are invited. The affair will begin with a cocktail hour at 6.

Col. Stanley J. Grogan, assistant to the director of the Central Intelligence Agency, Washington, will be the principal speaker. Colonel Grogan, who saved in two world wars, is a former local newspaperman.

Thomas L. Moran, general manager of The Scranton Times, will speak on behalf of the newsapermen. The guests will be welcomed by I. E. Cunningham Jr., exalted ruler. Attorney Jerome I. Myers, general chairman, will introduce the toast-master, E. J. Gerrity, managing editor of The Times.

There will be a musical program headed by the Elks Quarinvocation will be by George tet and Jack Owens, pianist. The Murdock, chaplain of the Elks.

E. J. GERRITY

FOIAb3b

CPYRGHT